Are you a graduate student or early career scholar?
Does your research examine Europe, Russia, or Eurasia?
If so, consider submitting your work to RERA!

Our journal:

- is interdisciplinary
- is published electronically
- provides open access to all its content
- publishes quality articles reviewed by prominent scholars
- allows authors to retain the copyright of their intellectual work
- accepts both full-length articles and literature reviews

All RERA submissions will be subjected to a process of double-blind review by selected prominent scholars. Articles will be judged on the basis of scholarship, quality of research, and relevance to the study of the European Union, its Member States, the states of the former Soviet Union, or Central and Eastern Europe. Disciplines covered include Political Science, History, Cultural Studies, Economics, Law, Sociology, Philosophy, Public Policy and Administration, and International Affairs.
